

CONTENTS

List of Figures	ix
Introduction. For an Ethnographic Microhistory through Ruins Chiara Calzana and Valentina Gamberi	1
Part I. Ethnographic Lenses for Ruination
1. A Landscape of Failures: The Historical Ecology of Ruins in the Po River Delta (Italy) Francesco Danesi della Sala	25
2. From Desire to Avoidance: Contrasting Interactions with the Rubble of Familiar Spaces Affected by an Earthquake and a Planned Flood (China) Katiana Le Mentec	45
Part II. Hauntings
3. A Scattered Self: Composing Subjectivities through Ruined Houses (Taiwan) Valentina Gamberi	71
4. Contested Memoryscapes: Post-Disaster Ruins and Memorial Practices in the Vajont Valley (Italy) Chiara Calzana	93
5. Ruins of Remains: Unpacking Narratives about a Cemetery of 'Political Victims' (Taiwan) Fang-I Chu	116

Part III. Curating Ruins

6	Ruins in the Forest: Conserving, Abandoning and Feeling Heritage in the Marquesas Islands (French Polynesia) Giacomo Nerici	139
7.	Soba Past versus Soba Present: An Ethnography of Soba Archeological Site (Sudan) Maciej Kurcz	163
	Afterword. The Only Real Nation Is Ruination Francisco Martínez	180
	Index	189